

PicCard for iPhone 1.3 Released with international postcard shipping

Published on 06/07/09

Pindropper has announced PicCard 1.3 for iPhone and iPod Touch. Have you ever been out and about and wanted to send your grandmother a picture from your iPhone? PicCard lets you choose a picture and a mailing address and send a printed picture postcard to their family and friends. The PicCard application and service handle everything for you, even including a short message for your recipient.

San Marcos, CA - Pindropper has announced the release of PicCard 1.3 for iPhone. PicCard allows any iPhone or iPod Touch user to send a printed picture postcard to their family and friends. PicCard started as a simple custom application to let users send printed photographs to their friends and family. As word spread about this custom application, requests came in to make it available on the iTunes Store. With version 1.3, PicCard is now the first iPhone application to support the international shipping of printed postcards!

"We are thrilled to be able to ship PicCard postcards internationally" said founder Joseph Shomphe. "For the low price of $1.50 USD, we think our service is unbeatable."

Unique Features:

- * Powered by Google App Engine for a fast, scalable service
- * Background uploads allowing for a very fast user experience
- * No PicCard service account needed
- * No pre-purchases or credits required

Minimum Requirements:

- * iPhone or iPod Touch running 2.0 or higher
- * Currently, PayPal account for payment (will be replaced with in application payments based on Apple's availability)

Pricing and Availability

The PicCard application is on sale now on the United States iTunes Store for $0.99 (USD). Cards being shipped within the United States are available for $0.99, international shipping is $1.50.
