

DeskConnect Launches for Mac - The Missing Link Between Your Devices

Published on 08/29/13

DeskConnect LLC today introduces DeskConnect for Mac. DeskConnect dissolves the barriers between devices by enabling users to instantly transfer text, images, audio, video, web pages, documents, driving directions and more. DeskConnect for Mac supports sharing between other Macs with DeskConnect installed, as well as to and from iPhone, iPad and iPod touch through a free companion app available on the App Store. DeskConnect is available today on the Mac App Store.

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania - Imagine never having to email yourself a file again, just because you wanted to switch devices. Imagine transferring driving directions you just found on your computer over to your phone's maps application in a single click. Imagine being able to click a button on your Mac to start a call on your iPhone.

Today, DeskConnect LLC introduces DeskConnect for Mac. DeskConnect dissolves the barriers between devices by enabling users to instantly transfer text, images, audio, video, web pages, documents, driving directions and more. DeskConnect for Mac supports sharing between other Macs with DeskConnect installed, as well as to and from iPhone, iPad and iPod touch through a free companion app available on the App Store.

"DeskConnect creates the final layer of connective tissue between all of your devices to provide you with a truly unified experience," said Ari Weinstein, Co-Founder of DeskConnect. "We have gotten great feedback from our beta testers, many of whom describe how DeskConnect instantly became an integral part of their daily lives. We are thrilled to now be able to provide that experience to the entire world."

DeskConnect provides unlimited transfers to an unlimited number of devices, and is completely free. Consumers are invited to visit deskconnect.com to learn how DeskConnect will fit into their daily routine. DeskConnect is available today as a free download from the Mac App Store.
