XtraLean Software is pleased to announce its fifth annual Father's Day Sale, offering Mac Dads a chance to treat themselves to two handy products at half price. ShutterBug is a website creation tool that helps users create and publish custom built websites easily. ImageWell is an image editor that lets users quickly and easily edit, crop, and resize with the click of a button. From June 19 to June 21, users can get ShutterBug and ImageWell for a 50% discount.

Kitchener, ON, Canada - XtraLean Software is pleased to announce its fifth annual Father's Day Sale, offering Mac Dads a chance to treat themselves to two great products at half price. From June 19 to June 21, users can get ShutterBug for only $19.95 CAD (reg. $39.95) and ImageWell for only $9.95 CAD (reg. $19.95). This is a grand total savings of $30 off the regular combined prices which is a 50% discount.

To continue the tradition, XtraLean has invited a group of Mac-related websites to partake in its Father's Day Sale again this year. Users can get a discount code from any one of the participating sites listed on XtraLean's home page. Participating sites will receive 40% of each sale that is generated from their site.

ShutterBug is an easy to use website creation tool for Mac OS X that helps users create and publish stylish websites easily, quickly, and custom built to one's specific and personalized needs. ImageWell is a lean, yet powerful image editor for Mac OS X that lets users quickly and easily edit, crop, resize, and send pictures and files to anyone, anywhere with one simple click of a button.

The latest version of ImageWell offers even more handy features such as batch resizing, batch watermarking, improved image filters, and much more. The latest version of ShutterBug adds a shopping cart feature, new special effects for photos, more image filters, plus many other new enhancements. Now until June 15th, both applications are available for 50% off the regular prices.

Both products can be tried for free. A registration number can be purchased for ImageWell for only $9.95 which will unlock the seven-day trial version. A registration number can be purchased for ShutterBug for only $19.95 which will unlock the Demo version and remove the 'demo' watermark from uploaded images. A coupon code for each product is required to purchase at the special price, which users can get from one of the participating "Mac Dads" listed on XtraLean's home page. More offer details are available from XtraLean's website.

ShutterBug requires Mac OS X 10.3.9 or better and ImageWell requires Mac OS X 10.4 or better. Both products are Universal Binaries for Intel-based Mac and Power PC support. Both products support .Mac accounts, WebDAV hosts, FTP/SFTP, and Export to a Folder. In addition to these, ImageWell also supports SmugMug, Flickr, and ImageShack accounts. More information on ShutterBug and ImageWell is available from XtraLean's website.

The special Father's Day Sale prices are available only until June 21 at midnight Eastern Standard Time. To learn more about XtraLean's Father's Day Special, please visit XtraLean's home page.
