

Synium Software releases final version of iFinance 3

Published on 06/22/09

Synium Software today is announcing the availability of iFinance 3. iFinance 3 is a major leap for Synium's personal financial management software. iFinance 3 offers vivid charts, an intuitive workflow and a brand-new customizable user interface. iFinance even tracks stock prices, displays portfolio performance and calculates profits and losses. iFinance 3 is free for customers of Versions 1 or 2.

Mainz, Germany - A few months after demonstrating iFinance 3 as public beta, Synium Software releases the final version. Users will love iFinance's new, interactive 3D charts with a vast number of configuration capabilities. Beyond that, iFinance allows users to choose from different views. The displayed information can be fine-tuned to one's liking.

iFinance 3 manages stocks, retrieves stock prices, monitors the performance of a portfolio and generates detailed information about profits and losses. If needed, iFinance can also display this data with informative charts.

The new "Budget" feature allows users to plan resources comfortably. Before going on a world cruise or refurbishing the kitchen, iFinance helps planning ahead what to spend on craftsmen, material, furniture and other expenses. And with iFinance 3's new and intuitive user interface, this is really easy.

Since starting the public beta cycle, iFinance 3 has been improved even more. iFinance 3 now supports new file formats as for example MT940 or files created with Quicken. Securing your files using password protection and encryption makes sure nobody else can access your data. iFinance 3 also sports new printing options. Whether you need your financial data exclusively on your Mac or on paper as well, iFinance just fits your needs.

What's new in iFinance 3?
