

New IOS App Takes Funny Facial Effects To New Level With Custom Code

Published on 10/29/13

App Superhero today releases Face Whirl 1.0, its new facial effects app developed for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch devices. Face Whirl offers a very unique feature unlike any other in the App Store: mirroring, which creates very unusual and humorous results. Using our face detection technology, split and create a mirrored reflection of either the left or right side of yours or a friend's face in order to generate hilarious whirled images. You can even share your creation via Facebook and Twitter.

Sarasota, Florida - Face Whirl launches to the App Store and has received rave reviews from beta testers. Using face detection technology and the app's custom algorithms, users can upload someone's face, then split and create a mirrored reflection of either the left or right side of it in order to generate hilarious 'whirled' images, then share with friends on social networks.

After investing nearly 9 months of design and development of an entire suite of apps, independent developer App Superhero launches Face Whirl along with many other apps.

With a specialized team in place and located around the world, App Superhero plans to expand the app's ability and scope over time as more user feedback comes in. "This app was designed because of a crazy idea and has since received rave reviews from beta testers", company founder TW Walker said. "We love entertainment apps, but combined with photo and facial effects, this one promises to be one of our best. With an array of effects already discussed as upgrades, the app will soon include many other effects based on user feedback and demand".

Face Whirl is one part of a small, but growing suite of mobile apps being developed by App Superhero with apps in both the entertainment and utility categories. More apps are in the pipeline and also soon to be released in the App Store. The company plans to expand their apps on the Android platforms in Spring of 2014.
