

Follow My News: Share and follow the news that's important to you on iOS

Published on 11/08/13

New York based Follow My News LLC today announces the release of Follow My News for The iPhone, iPad, and iPod touch. An innovative social news sharing platform, Follow My News gives users the power to publish their own virtual newspapers, share them directly with followers, and get news from all the people they follow in real-time right onto their mobile device from anywhere. An interactive experience Follow My News enables users to actively rate, like, dislike, and comment on stories as well.

New York, New York - Follow My News LLC, an emerging mobile applications and social sharing solutions developer, is excited today to announce the launch of their eponymous user generated news platform Follow My News onto the App Store. Universally compatible across iPhone, iPad and iPod touch devices, this unique news creation and sharing utility gives users the power to write their own digital newspapers, publish them directly to all of their in-app followers, while following and reading other users newsfeeds on demand as well. Redefining how we interact with and experience topical and timely news, Follow My News is currently available for download on the App Store for free in the marketplace's Social Networking and News categories.

Built with an eloquently simple mission, Follow My News puts users in charge of the news, allowing them to report on - and read others' news reports - without filters or middlemen. This portal gives users the power to report on current events, local happenings, global issues, concerts, and anything else they want to all strictly from their perspective.

The app gives users the option of either logging in via their Facebook accounts or by creating a dedicated Follow My News account. Once inside, they're free to create news articles, browse through available news feeds, follow relevant news feeds and make their own unique mark on the Follow My News virtual landscape. Users can interact with the news too, rating, liking, disliking, and commenting on any news story they want to on demand as well.

Boasting an intuitive user interface, the app features four different modules - My News, Browse, Following, and Chat - which together provide a seamlessly social news intake and creation experience. Generating new articles is as simple as picking a title and news category, writing out your news, and publishing.

To boot, users are welcome to enhance their stories with photos, video and audio clips as well. Continuously evolving, the app welcomes active user feedback to ensure that everyone gets the best possible news experience whether it's the addition of new features or anything else.

Stop sifting through news ad nauseum - get Follow My News, share the most important stories to you in your own words, get only the news you want from the people you want to hear it from, and rethink how you get and share information with Follow My News today
