Solana Beach, CA - Nisus(R) Software Inc. today announces the release of Nisus Writer Pro 1.3, the latest version of our critically acclaimed word processor. Nisus Writer Pro 1.3 adds a completely new document manager. The document manager now can manage any file on your drive, regardless of its location. You can create file groups, or use the predefined smart groups. There is also a style library, and an advanced search that leverages Apple's Spotlight technology.

Also added was selection history (allowing users to jump to prior editing locations), an option to automatically capitalize the first word of each sentence during typing, the ability to attach the active document to a new email message (in Mail.app and Entourage only), and you can now turn any menu into a toolbar item.

Other new features include character/word/paragraph count as an automatic number, menus to invert the selection, select all document areas, expand the selection to full word/sentence/paragraph. A preference allows language switches to affect font size. Triple click selects a sentence and quadruple click selects a paragraph.

There have also been additions to the Nisus Macro Language, and a host of bug fixes and other enhancements. These new features add to an already rich feature set that includes an intuitive interface, multilingual text support, powerful find and replace, easy to use style system, non-contiguous selection, full screen mode, and a native file format (RTF) that almost any word processor can read.
