Irvine, California - RepairZoom, the country's most respected online repair shop for broken Apple mobile devices, has announced its 24 hour guaranteed repair turnaround time for iPad Air Screen Repairs. RepairZoom was initially conceived and started in 2011 to meet the country's growing demand for a quick turnaround to fix broken Apple mobile gadgets.

A highly efficient and well planned logistics and repair operation enables RepairZoom to guarantee the repair of almost any Apple mobile device within 24 hours of the customer making their payment online, and sending their device to the repair lab.

While placing your order, the RepairZoom website generates the order labels on the fly and prepares work flows well in advance of the device arriving into the repair labs.

The website is built on a state of the art platform called Magento that is the world's most popular online eCommerce platform. It has been customized to be very user friendly so anyone can quickly place their order and make a payment via PayPal, Credit Card or Purchase Order to fix their broken device. If you're in the vicinity, you can even walk in with your broken device and meet the friendly technicians to get your broken iPad, iPhone, or iPod device fixed within a few hours.

Bradley Strong, the Lead repair Technician, who is amongst the nations most qualified expert repairman for Apple's products, having fixed over 1000 devices already, is quoted as saying "As Apple's iOS devices proliferate across a large number of homes in the USA and worldwide, we are seeing a huge spike in accidents that result in broken screens, monitors, and even the main structural case in extreme circumstances. " To meet with this demand, RepairZoom has extended services to fix any Apple product that gets physically damaged.

In addition, to meet with the rising demand for a 24 hour guaranteed turnaround time, the company has scaled up operations by pre-screening, hiring and training highly qualified technicians who can fix almost any "fixable" iOS broken device within a few hours of receiving it.

The company's customers have grown across all sectors. This includes individuals who have actually purchased insurance but have found that using RepairZoom is still less expensive.
