Puchheim, Germany - Boinx Software has just released a major update to its premier slideshow creation tool, FotoMagico 4.4. The latest update brings considerable improvements to the underlying system, resulting in a markedly better user experience. Among many enhancements, FotoMagico 4.4 now features six-times faster export, better color accuracy, smoother transitions and much more. "This update to FotoMagico is not about fancy new features; it's about improving the platform and preparing for the future," states Oliver Breidenbach, CEO, Boinx Software. "This is the most significant update to version 4 yet. While you might not realize the changes at first glance, they won't go unnoticed once you dive into creating your slideshow."

FotoMagico 4.4 Updates Include:

- * Export has been completely overhauled to provide up to six-times faster export, better color accuracy and better quality for H.264 and Apple ProRes formats
- * FotoMagico 4.4 is compatible with OS X Mavericks
- * Modern 64-bit Architecture makes working with large slideshows with many slides and videos a breeze
- * Transition from QuickTime to AV Foundation improves video playback and enables smoother transitions between slides
- * Now supports legacy video formats via automatic conversion to modern formats
- * Use the "c" key during video playback to separate a video clip into multiple consecutive clips for easier video editing of long videos

Watch the FotoMagico 4.4 webinar and get an in-depth look at the latest update from the creator himself, Peter Baumgartner, and Boinx Software's video expert, Bastian Wolfle.

FotoMagico 4.4 Pricing and Availability

FotoMagico 4.4 is available now as a free update for existing v4 users or from the Boinx Website for 99.99 USD. It is pending approval in the Mac App Store and will be available shortly.
