Weddington, NC - TuringStudios is proud to announce PortfolioLive 1.2.1, a full featured Portfolio Management tool for the Apple iPhone. For the first time ever a user can access the complete value of their portfolio from grocery store, on the highway or in the middle of a meeting at work. With a user base of almost 10,000 PortfolioLive continues to be the #1 full featured stock and portfolio management tool for the iPhone.

"For the first time ever users can get real tick by tick updates for all their stock positions", said Andy Sharp, Software Architect for Turing Studios. "We designed PortfolioLive to wring out every bit of power and functionality the iPhone platform provides and our stock quote engine is second to none. In fact we get emails from many Wall Street traders who love our product for its speed and accuracy."

PortfolioLive is a powerful and very easy to use Portfolio Management tool for the iPhone/iPod. Receive stock quotes and index values direct to your phone, with real-time quotes offered where available, and know the value of your holdings anytime, anywhere. Manage hundreds of positions across an unlimited number of portfolios, with our fast, flexible and stable quote engine. All this from a company that believes in providing frequent updates, new features and excellent ongoing support.

PortfolioLive is the only portfolio management tool that offers support for unlimited portfolios, multiple lots per holding, long and short positions, configurable commissions, options, futures, commodities and real time data for many US stocks.

"Users are generally astounded at how easily they can track their investments on their iPhone and love the product ... but they haven't seen anything yet!", said Andy Sharp. "Our product road map stretches far into the future with some very strong features upcoming. PortfolioLive was developed from the ground up to support the most savvy and demanding investors and our upcoming v2.0 release offers even more".

Here are just a few of the amazing features of PortfolioLive v1.2.1:
