

Fuzel 2.0 - Introduce the world's first Animated Collage

Published on 01/30/14

Not A Basement Studio released version 2.0 of their popular Fuzel app for the iPhone today. In this version, Fuzel continues raising the bar of collage making with the brand new Animated Collage feature. For the first time ever, users can put photos together, add music, and see the final collage play out in a fun and stylish fashion. This update also includes a dozen of improvements and bug fixes to ensure the best collage making experience in Fuzel.

Ho Chi Minh, Viet Nam - Not A Basement Studio has announced today the release of Fuzel 2.0, a major update of their popular collage making application. First launched 1 month ago, Fuzel already has over 1 million users and was proudly featured as "Best New App" in over 40 countries. In this version, Fuzel become the first app to introduce Animated Collage, which lets users put photos together, add music, and see the final collage play out stylishly. Animated Collage, together with many improvements and bug fixes, will empower users to tell their amazing stories in a much more complete way.

Animated Collage

Unlike a normal slideshow that only display photos after photos, Fuzel's animated collages know exactly which part of a photo users want to focus, based on that photo's position in the collage. The app even analyzes the chosen song, and match the transition time between photos to the beats for the best viewing experience. In the end, user will see their photos in both collage form, and individually. This is particularly great for those with beautifully-taken photos, who don't want to lose out the little details.

Discover

Discover is where users can view and get inspired by beautiful collages made by other Fuzel users. All the collages featured in Discover are hand-picked among hundred thousands of shared collages with #fuzel on Instagram, Facebook, or Twitter.

New Shuffle Mechanism

Layout Shuffle is one of the most loved new features in Fuzel - it lets users randomize layouts smartly for the most suitable ones for their photos. In this new update, users now have the option to choose between the Basic layouts, or the special Funky and Freeform ones for more fun-looking collages.

New Login Methods

Fuzel now supports login via Twitter and email, in addition to Facebook. Just like before, once users log in, Fuzel will remember all purchases made in Fuzel Stores and users can easily restore these purchases later when they reinstall the app or change to a new device.

How do you describe Not A Basement Studio in one word? Passion. We love what we do and we do what we love. We love making life better, one app at a time. The key idea behind each of our apps: usability. We don't develop stuffs just because they are cool. They also need to be useful. How useful? The kind of usefulness that can last you months or even years. After all, we use our own apps too, and we don't accept mediocrity. Though we choose the long route, our product philosophy really paid off over time. Most of our apps has been featured as "New & Noteworthy" by Apple multiple times, received rave reviews from major news outlets such as TheNextWeb, Cult Of Mac, Cnet etc. Copyright (C) 2014 Not A Basement Studio.
