

AppWorldStudio Launches the Unique iBaby App to Assist Nursing Mothers

Published on 02/27/14

AppWorldStudio announces the launch of their latest innovation, iBaby 1.2, a mobile app that assists nursing mothers making their breastfeeding process easier. The app enables the user to keep track of breastfeeding sessions by recording their time, duration, and side used. The data is stored in a daily summary page. Moreover, the app features a reminder so mothers can watch for early hunger cues. iBaby also keeps track of the baby diaper condition.

Tours, France - AppWorldStudio is pleased to announce the launch of their latest app: iBaby 1.2 is now available to help nursing mothers with their breastfeeding process and make their life easier. iBaby is a mobile app that enables the user to keep track of breastfeeding sessions by recording their time, duration, and side used. The data is stored in a daily summary page and can be retrieved and shared via e-mail in a PDF format. Moreover, the app features a reminder so mothers can watch for early hunger cues.

Not only does iBaby help nursing mothers to follow the baby feeding schedule, but it also keeps track of the baby diaper condition. And social media sharing is also enabled in the iBaby app - share and like on Facebook and Twitter, and rate it on the App Store.

Benoit Pozzoli, CEO at AppWorldStudio, explains "When my kid was born, I saw my wife scribbling notes on scraps of paper in the middle of the night to keep track of breastfeeding sessions. I thought, there must be a way to make this easier with a mobile app..."
