

First Spy Call Software Technology Now Available for iPhone

Published on 07/23/09

FlexiSPY Ltd has released FlexiSPY iPhone Spy Phone, the only commercially available spy call software for iPhone. This groundbreaking iPhone technology can remotely control 3G and 3GS models to turn on the microphone and allow users to listen from another phone. The spy technology is undetectable and is suitable for use by parents protecting teenagers, or corporations and investigators that need to monitor communications.

Victoria, Seychelles - FlexiSPY Ltd announced today that it has developed the only commercially available spy call software for iPhone, and is offering it in new versions of its FlexiSPY iPhone Spy Phone. FlexiSPY develops cutting-edge solutions for iPhone, BlackBerry, Windows Mobile, and Nokia-Symbian that are widely used to supervise and protect teenagers and employees, and to investigate infidelity and criminal activity. Adding spycall to smartphone monitoring of SMS text messages, email, call logs, location tracking and cell phone call intercept (phone tap) completes the spy toolkit.

A spy call is similar to an audio bug; and provides the ability to secretly switch on the iPhone microphone from any other phone, and listen into the immediate surroundings. FlexiSPY has software packages with various performance levels for all iPhone 2G, 3G, and 3GS models, iPhone - BASIC, LIGHT and PRO. The new spy call technology is offered in the popular PRO package, which also secretly records all SMS messages, Call Records, Emails and GPS locations. The highly anticipated release of FlexiSPY iPhone PRO-X that adds call intercept is expected soon.

FlexiSPY is high quality spy software; it leaves no trace of installation, and is completely undetectable. It offers full remote control of all internal settings plus the unique ability to remotely disable and uninstall itself. FlexiSPY silently uploads data via GPRS or WiFi connection to globally distributed secure servers where all data is accessible from user web accounts and includes a map display with control options for historical and real time tracking. Also offered is email relaying, which forwards captured data to a user specified email address.

FlexiSPY iPhone LIGHT is identical to PRO, with the exception of spy call. BASIC lacks remote control and email capture, but starting at only $39.99 per quarter, it offers more features at a lower cost than the best offerings from competitors. Discounted upgrades from BASIC to LIGHT or PRO are also included.

"FlexiSPY has helped thousands of people worldwide protect loved ones and understand the reasons for relationship problems. We are also particularly proud of the modest part we have played in bringing criminals to justice" says Marc Harris, Marketing Manager of FlexiSPY Co Ltd. "Given the success of the iPhone, we will be able to offer these benefits to an even greater audience."

"Our customers continually confirm that FlexiSPY is the most powerful spy phone solution available anywhere today, and that the benefits of its technical sophistication really becomes apparent to them when actually used in real life situations - particularly features such as remote uninstall that protect their confidentiality" says Harris. "We decided to introduce the iPhone BASIC for cost sensitive customers who can now experience a professional grade upgradable product at a price that is much cheaper than the alternative low-quality products that are easily detected and often result in customers getting caught"

Not only is FlexiSPY invaluable for concerned spouses, parents, and corporations, but also can be used by law enforcement, financial institutions, mobile backup companies, and
