Hong Kong, China - FlipHTML5 Software Co., Ltd is proud to announce the upgraded Mac version of Flip HTML5 software, which allows customers to make more engaging and attractive digital content for tablet, desktop, laptop or mobile devices of any kind. Customers will now get a richer experience and will be able to interact with their clients using the Flip HTML5 Mac version.

Mac users are able to enjoy the same great features that Windows users benefit from, using one of the various premium packages available. The specific requirements of both businesses and individuals that use Mac can be now fully met.

Based on HTML4, CSS3 and jQuery, working with the Digital Publishing Suite is greatly facilitated and the publication delivery is fast and easy. Publishers can create custom layouts, optimize advertising and editorial content, distribute editions and maximize the digital publishing workflow. They can even build new interactive levels to get in touch with their clients and prospects.

More than 50,000 publishers have started using this unique software and are completely satisfied with the results. FlipHTML5 Company now provides newcomers with the opportunity to try it for free. People can choose a free plan that has limited features to see how it works. Using this plan, customers will be able to make a book of maximum 50 pages, to use custom background color and image and to share it on social networks. PDF conversion is also included.

People, who would like to use more advanced levels of FlipHTML5 Digital Publishing Suite For Mac, can choose between Pro, Gold, Platinum or Enterprise membership plan. Interested business owners and publishers can visit FlipHTML5 online to find more information about pricing and availability.
