Spokane, Washington - PhatWare is excited to announce today the new release of PhatPad for iPad, a note-taking and collaboration app featuring PhatWare's latest handwriting recognition technology. PhatPad 3.2 features numerous improvements, all of which are based on feedback we received from PhatPad users. These features include support for Adonit Jot Touch 4 stylus, improved handwriting recognition, letter shape selector showing animation for all supported letter shapes, custom date formats, and numerous performance improvements.

About PhatPad:

PhatPad is more than note taking platform, PhatPad enables users to jot down ideas, bolster them with visual aides, and share finished ideas with anyone they'd like to in real time. To that end the app even includes a fully featured Presentation mode which lets users show off their notes to local collaborators in addition to its diverse array of digital sharing options. Users can also rest easy knowing that their notes have a place in the cloud - notes can be saved to Dropbox, Box, OneDrive, or Google Drive cloud and accessed from anywhere regardless of which device they utilize.

PhatPad is as technically impressive as it is conducive to creative openness. Legions of apps let users scribble down their thoughts, but PhatPad isn't any app. Digital ink technology guarantees notes all seem fluid, while advanced word and shape recognition tech effortlessly transform notes into written text and hand drawn images into perfect shapes in an instant. Voice note features enable users to include audio notes on demand, wireless printing functionality, and support for eleven global languages. Put down your notebook and step into a new era of note taking with PhatPad. PhatPad, along with PhatWare's WritePad, are both fantastic tools for organizing your thoughts in a unique and natural way.
