Published on 08/10/09

MotionObj today announced SimplyTweet 2.1, an update to their full featured Twitter application for iPhone and iPod touch. SimplyTweet combines a fast, simple user interface and advanced functionality. It supports push notifications for new mentions and direct messages, customized timelines with saved views, read conversations, themes, import accounts from HootSuite, multiple accounts, landscape drafting, landscape built-in browser, text and URL shrinking, photo search, and more.

Singapore - SimplyTweet 2.1 is a full featured iPhone Twitter Application that combines a fast, simple user interface and advanced functionality. It supports advanced functionality such as push notifications for new mentions and direct messages, themes, photo search, and picture posting to sites such as TwitPic and Posterous.

It is developed by MotionObj, run by independent software developer, Hwee-Boon Yar who is based in Singapore. The completely re-designed SimplyTweet 2.0 has been approved by Apple and is now available on the iTunes App Store for both iPod touch and iPhone. It was primarily developed because the developer could not find an iPhone Twitter client that satisfied his personal needs.
