

Elite Keylogger Mac 1.3.036 Improves Emailed Logs and Adds AutoUpdates

Published on 07/22/14

Plano based security software firm, WideStep Security Software today announces Elite Keylogger for Mac 1.3.036, an update to the leading Mac keystroke recorder software. Elite Keylogger for Mac allows invisible recording of most keystrokes, email, chats and websites visited, along with screen captures. Version 1.3.036 brings automatic update notification and enhanced logs sent via email. Users will be automatically notified when the program is unhidden.

Plano, Texas - WideStep Security Software is proud to announce the release of Elite Keylogger for Mac version 1.3.036 today. Elite Keylogger for Mac is a leading invisible and undetectable keystroke recording app. The new version brings automatic update notifications to the Mac keystroke recording software. Now users will not have to check the Elite Keylogger website for updates, but instead will be automatically notified when the program is unhidden. Users that receive logs via email will also receive a notification by email. This means users will always be up to date with the latest in keystroke recording technology.

In addition, the update also brings significant improvements to the logs that are sent by email. The emailed logs are now presented in HTML format and contain all recorded information, in chronological order. The logs now contain not just keystrokes but chat logs, web activity and clipboard logs as well.

About Elite Keylogger:

Elite Keylogger for Mac has a Free and PRO version. The Free version is not invisible and its logs do not include chat conversations and passwords. The PRO version operates invisibly in the background and is completely undetectable as it records passwords, chats, email, websites visited, and words typed. It is compatible with 64bit Macs running Mac OS 10.6.8 or higher.

Elite Keylogger is the brainchild of WideStep Security Software, a security software firm based in Plano, Texas. For more information visit them online. The new release is a free update to all users of Elite Keylogger PRO for Mac.
