

Talking Cat Toby - A Funny Tiger Tomcat Arrives at App Store

Published on 07/24/14

Talking Cat by Peaksel DOO has finally reached the App Store market. It is a new kind of cat that users can pet, poke, tease, dress up and talk to, while laughing at the funny moves it makes. This silly tomcat is free to download to any iPad, iPod and iPhone. Growing up with animals is one of many childhood joys. It does not require as much care, but still makes one's day enjoyable. Yet, when not able to have a real pet, why not get a virtual one?

Nis, Serbia - Peaksel DOO has optimized another talking pet app for App Store fans. This time, people have a chance to play with a talking cat. The tomcat will clap, dance, sing and talk back all the while causing laughter and good mood. The app is free to download to iPhone, iPad and iPod.

Growing up with animals is one of many childhood joys. Yet, when not able to have a real pet, why not get a virtual one? It does not require as much care, but still makes one's day enjoyable. Talking cat is a simple app, which makes it suitable for the little ones and adults at the same time. Not only does the cat repeat what people say, but he also winks, claps and dances, among other options.

"Not everyone likes cats because they scratch. Toby does not scratch, but loves to purr. After all, any silly animal tends to be cute. Talking cat is our third talking pet, but with each new pet we design, I grow more fond of them. We hope that the users will like Toby, too," said Milica Denic, a design crew member.

In addition to dressing up, talking and clapping, Toby, the talking cat, loves purring, drinking juice and singing in a language only known to him. With all the silliness and laughter he brings, Toby will soon become everyone's favorite play date.
