Kirkel, Germany - iHanWel today announced they are offering the weight tracking app, iLoseWeight for free for the next 7 days. With the help of iLoseWeight users can document their data and view the effects of diet and fitness exercises, which records weight, body mass index (BMI), fat, and water relation.

Simply by choosing a target weight and the user can then easily check his weight and BMI with iLoseWeight's sophisticated graphic engine. Data protected is enabled with a password, and users have the ability to back up their important data and restore it at any time as well.

iLoseWeight is more or less the "Light Version" of iBody: Along with weight tracking iBody also features blood pressure, blood values and fitness logging - not to mention a sophisticated GPS tracking function for clocking and mapping your jogging or cycling distances and routes. iBody was presented in New York with the Mobie Award 2009 as the best App in the category "Healthcare and Fitness".

Minimum Requirements:

* iPhone or iPod touch 2.0 or later

After finishing the iLoseWeight for free campaign, iHanWel will continue to donate an equal amount of half of all proceeds from the sale of its iLoseWeight application to aid organizations in order to assist them in their battle against child hunger around the globe. The campaign, which will run indefinitely, offers users of iLoseWeight the opportunity to contribute to a good cause while getting in shape and improving their own health.
