Victoria, Seychelles - FlexiSPY Ltd has added Call Intercept capability to their advanced PRO-X iPhone spy phone software. A Call Intercept is the ability to discreetly listen to an actual phone call that is in progress on an iPhone. The complete PRO-X iPhone spy phone feature list includes monitoring of SMS text messages, email, call logs, GPS location tracking, Call intercept (phone tap), spy calls and full remote control.

Aimed at the premium buyer, FlexiSPY is professional grade technology and is more powerful and reliable than any other product of its kind. Completely undetectable, it is suitable for professional investigators as well as everyday people looking to protect teens or uncover the truth about relationships.

FlexiSPY has software packages with various performance levels for all iPhone 2G, 3G, and 3GS models - BASIC, LIGHT, PRO, and PRO-X, as well as solutions for Nokia, Windows Mobile and Blackberry devices. To help consumers with purchase decisions the Flexispy website includes comparisons with other brands of mobile spy phone software.

With iPhone Spy Phone software starting at just $39.99 (USD) for three months of service, FlexiSPY offers an affordable and proven option to anyone needing to investigate iPhone communication activity. Not only is FlexiSPY invaluable for concerned spouses, parents, and corporations, but also can be used by law enforcement, financial institutions, mobile backup companies, and others. FlexiSPY is obtainable through online purchase and direct download to supported mobile devices.

FlexiSPY is high quality spy software; it leaves no trace of installation, and is completely undetectable. It silently uploads data via GPRS or WiFi connection to globally distributed secure servers where all data is accessible from user web accounts and includes a map display with control options for historical and real time tracking. Using a web-based interface it offers full remote control of all internal settings plus the unique ability to remotely disable and uninstall itself. Also offered is email relaying, which forwards captured data to a user specified email address.
