UK based Wandle Software Limited announces the up and coming release of ShareEverywhere, its new app for iPhone and iPad devices. Made possible by the new sharing functionality in iOS 8, ShareEverywhere adds itself to every standard "action" menu, allowing you to share links and images to a wide range of services. Because ShareEverywhere is built into the system, it works with all apps that use the system share menu and supports both links and images.

London, United Kingdom - Wandle Software Limited is pleased to announce the up and coming release of ShareEverywhere, its new app for iPhone and iPad devices. Made possible by the new sharing functionality in iOS 8, ShareEverywhere adds itself to every standard "action" menu, allowing you to share links and images to a wide range of services.

Previously sharing a link from an iOS app to another service was painful. To share a link from Safari you had to either configure a "bookmarklet," which was convoluted and difficult, or copy the link to the clipboard and manually launch a sharing app, which is clunky.

This changes in iOS 8, where apps can add themselves to the system "Action" menu. That's exactly what ShareEverywhere does, but rather than sharing to a single service it supports fourteen! Because it's built into the system, it works with all apps that use the system share menu and supports both links and images.
