Lucca, Italy - ZeroWeather, the new weather app by the Italian software house Pizero Design has been released for Android and iOS, and is now available for free worldwide. Combining amazing graphics, accurate forecasting, and social functionality into our next-gen weather application, ZeroWeather is the result of almost a year of painstaking work and development. The key points of this new app are:

- * Simplicity - a beautiful, cutting-edge, easy to use design to easily navigate your weather experience;
- * Power - Accurate weather data from World Weather Online, OpenWeather, and Forecast.io;
- * Beauty - an immersive weather experience thanks to parallax weather backgrounds with a gyroscope-controlled 3D effect, to see clouds, lens flare, and rain drops move as you tilt your device.

ZeroWeather was created to be reliable and fun, as it includes two ways to share weather with friends: a simple "1-tap share" of weather conditions (on Facebook and Twitter) plus the "InstaShare" feature that allows users to take a picture, add weather on it, and share it on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

Device Requirements:

- * iPhone, iPad, and iPod touch
- * Requires iOS 7.0 or later
- * 38.4 MB
