

Track Wordpress Stats on the iPhone and iPad with Numerics Dashboard App

Published on 10/08/14

Numerics, the on-the-go business dashboard app for the iPhone and iPad today introduces integration with the popular blogging software Wordpress. The new integration enables Wordpress users or self hosted Wordpress sites to quickly look at their visitors, views, monitor top posts and discover top search terms of their site. Along with the Wordpress integration, v1.2 also fixes the integration with the Stripe API and the layout of the Widget Store on iOS8 devices.

Mumbai, India - Numerics, the business dashboard app to track KPIs, by Cynapse, introduces a shiny new integration with the popular blogging software Wordpress. Numerics v1.2 enables Wordpress and self hosted Wordpress users to monitor their site stats on the go using intuitive graphs, funnel lists, number tallies and more.

Numerics displays live analytics, engagement metrics, revenue, and more from over 20 cloud services in customizable dashboards, giving professionals an invaluable window into the numbers that matter most. Numerics not only benefits business users who are able to create unlimited dashboards and track numbers important to them, but also adds value to the services it integrates with by extending their information to their users' iOS devices.

Numerics already integrates with Google Analytics to provide site statistics and more. The new integration enables users who use Wordpress analytics and would like to see them alongside Google Analytics and other information in one unified view. Numerics comes with 5 carefully designed Wordpress widget packs. Users can try out the Wordpress integration for free with the Basic Stats widget pack that presents the big totals for a Wordpress blog or site, like all time Posts, Comments and Views. The Visitor Stats and View Stats show a range of data enabling marketers to track the visitor and views trend, top posts and pages, top referrers, top search terms and more. The Interaction Stats widget pack gives an overview of how visitors engage with the site content and the Network Stats widget pack is specially designed for the WP.com users to track their subscribers, followers and more metrics.

Along with the Wordpress integration, v1.2 also fixes the integration with the Stripe API and the layout of the Widget Store on iOS8 devices. A complete list of What's New in v1.2 is available on the App Store.
