

EquiBreedVet Pro - the new app for horse vets and breeders

Published on 10/13/14

Le Cicogne Horse Vet Center has introduced EquiBreedVet Pro 1.0 for iOS, their new app created and designed for veterinarians, breeders and equine reproduction operators. Well-built and easy-to-use, the app was specifically created for organizing and simplifying the work with broodmares during the breeding season. The broodmares physical and reproductive characteristics and more are always available. Just for few days you can download it for the special price of $5.99.

Agrate Conturbia, Italy - Le Cicogne Horse Vet Center has announced the availability of EquiBreedvet Pro for iOS, a well-built and easy-to-use application to organizing and simplify the work with broodmares during the breeding season.

During the breeding season theriogenologists, horse breeders and breeding managers need to store a big amount of data concerning their work with broodmares, and usually they do it on paper medical records, difficult to consult afterwards.

To bring order into medical records and have guidelines for a better storage about broodmares, an Italian vet specialized in equine reproduction, created an easy-to-grasp App for iPad that can be used for storing data and recovering them also after years. With EquiBreedVet Pro, broodmares physical and reproductive characteristics and all clinical findings about ultrasound checks during the estrus cycles, the pregnancy and the undertaken therapies will be always available.

All clinical charts are exportable on the computer by e-mail or Dropbox in order to have a backup of the work that has been done. It will also be possible to make charts containing the main data about horse breeders, stallions and stallion agents. The daily use of EquiBreedVet Pro during the breeding season will avoid poorly organized and hardly accessible data, making room to the iPad, a light and easy-to-use device even for vets who use to work in the field.

Device Requirements:

- * Compatible with iPad
- * Requires iOS 7.0 or later
- * 5.6 MB

Pricing and Availability:

EquiBreedVet Pro 1.0 is $5.99 USD (or equivalent amount in other currencies) and available worldwide exclusively through the App Store in the Medical category.
