

Baby Monitor 3G Adds Video on Cellular Networks: 50% off on Cyber Monday

Published on 11/28/14

TappyTaps today announces Baby Monitor 3G, a major update to its popular popular babysitting app for iOS, Android and Mac OS X. Baby Monitor works over Wi-Fi, 3G, and LTE, and is trusted by hundreds of thousands of parents worldwide. The app transfers live video and audio from the device located in the child's room to the one that is with parents. This new release offers unlimited video support. To celebrate this update TappyTaps prepared huge 50% discount for the Cyber Monday.

Prague, Czech Republic - TappyTaps, the creator of Baby Monitor 3G for iOS, Android and Mac used by more than a half million parents, just released a major update with unlimited video support. To celebrate this update, TappyTaps prepared huge 50% discount for the Cyber Monday. Baby Monitor 3G transfers live video and audio from device staying in the child's room to the one that is with parents.

Till now, the video feature worked only when both devices were connected to the same WiFi, but since the new update, it will work anywhere - on 3G, LTE or on another WiFi network. It means that parents will be able to see what's your little one doing everywhere. Update for the Android version with same features will come in a few weeks.

"The unlimited video was the most requested feature of our customers", said Jindrich Sarson, CEO of TappyTaps. "We are happy, that we can offer it as a free update without any monthly fees."
