Prague based Flow Studio, a.s. today introduces Cut! 1.2, their new video quiz app for iOS and Android devices. With hundreds of clips and thousands of contextual questions, Cut! offers the ultimate way to compare movie fan's knowledge. First, watch short clips to relive famous moments from classic and modern movies. Then go head-to-head against friends or random opponents to answer contextual questions about the films. Do you know which Bible passage Jules quotes in Pulp Fiction?

Prague, Czech Republic - Flow Studio, a.s., a mobile entertainment company, today is pleased to announce the release of Cut! 1.2, their new video quiz for movie fans for iOS and Android devices. Cut! is a quiz app that digs deeper into movie trivia than any other mobile game on the market. First, you watch short clips to relive famous moments from classic and modern movies. Then, you go head-to-head against friends or random opponents to answer contextual questions about the films. Do you know which Bible passage Jules quotes in Pulp Fiction? How about the color of Luke's light saber in The Empire Strikes Back, or the name of the planet humans are mining in Avatar?

When you truly love a movie, your knowledge goes deeper than the names of the cast and crew. That's why Cut! includes over 2 500 trivia questions drawn from movies categorized into 12 different playlists including Awarded Movies, Leonardo DiCaprio, and Marvel Superheroes - with many more other categories to come. This free app is packed with hours of game play to keep players coming back for more, with dozens of questions for each movie clip concerning the plot, dialogue and details of specific scenes. Invite Facebook friends to play against you, earn gems for every match you win and see how your knowledge of your favorite films stacks up in the global leader boards.

"My friends and I are always quoting iconic lines from our favorite movies. We remember all these random details and sharing these can bring back a film's emotional moments in an engaging way," says Cut! game designer Ricardo Burnin, who was a movie production designer previously. "That was my inspiration for Cut! - to let players who love movies compete in trivia matches with friends and other fans all over the world. We couldn't find any quiz game like this in any mobile store, so we made our own!"

Flow Studio is an independent team based in Prague's TechSquare. Richard Horin and Petr Fodor founded the studio in 2011 so they could lose themselves in the "flow" experience of making games - a feeling of immersion, energized focus, and prolonged enjoyment that they hope to pass along to players. Flow's games Power of Logic, Sortee, Octagon, Iconic and Replay were downloaded more than 5 million times, earned excellent user reviews, and were featured by Apple, Google and Microsoft.
