

Karelia Announces Sandvox 1.6.4 - Popular Website Builder Application

Published on 09/15/09

Karelia Software today released Sandvox 1.6.4, an update to its award-winning website design software for Mac OS X. Version 1.6.4 is a free update and provides full compatibility with Snow Leopard. Sandvox 1.6.4 responds to a recent change in Amazon's API, and has been localized to Brazilian Portuguese. Developed with individuals, families, students, schools, and small businesses in mind, Sandvox features drag-and-drop website assembly, live editing, and much more.

Alameda, California - Karelia Software today released version 1.6.4 of Sandvox (R), its award-winning website design software for Mac OS X. Version 1.6.4 is a free update and provides full compatibility with Snow Leopard, Apple's Mac OS X version 10.6. Sandvox 1.6.4 is a recommended download for all users.

In addition to full Snow Leopard compatibility, Sandvox 1.6.4 responds to a recent change in Amazon's API, by providing a critical update to its Amazon List Pages and Pagelet code and restoring full functionality. Karelia is also proud to announce that Sandvox has been localized to Brazilian Portuguese.

A Universal Binary for PowerPC and Intel architectures, Sandvox 1.6 requires Mac OS X "Tiger" version 10.4.11, or "Leopard" version 10.5, or "Snow Leopard" version 10.6 and above, and is available in English, French, Danish, German, Brazilian Portuguese, and both Simplified and Traditional Chinese. A single-user license to Sandvox costs $57 (USD); a single-user license for the Pro edition (enabling raw HTML editing plus additional Google integration) costs $97 (USD). Household licenses and site licenses are also available.

More information about Sandvox is available at Karelia's website (created with Sandvox, of course). Review copies for traditional and online media are available.
