Published on 09/22/15

IGG Software, Inc. has released new versions of iBank 3.0 for iPad and iPhone, the most advanced personal finance solutions for the iOS platform. Redesigned for iOS 9, both products will be a free upgrade to users of earlier versions. iBank for iPhone users will now be able to schedule reoccurring bill payments from within the app. iBank for iPad adds support for using your current location to find businesses when entering transactions on the go and more.

Putney, Vermont - IGG Software's new app releases have been redesigned to take advantage of the updated user interface in iOS 9 and Watch OS 2. The releases also include several new features and improvements.

iBank for iPhone 3.0 users will now be able to schedule reoccurring bill payments from within the app, and edit schedules and transaction templates. "Since we released iBank for iPhone 2 we've been continually pressing to make it the best iPhone app for your finances," says IGG's president, Ian Gillespie, "There aren't any games or gimmicks. It's all of your finances and budgets just how you want them with super fast search, Cloud Sync, and Direct Access account updates and aggregation."

iBank for iPad 3.0 adds support for using your current location to find businesses when entering transactions on the go, as well as the new split screen functionality in iOS 9. With this version of iBank for iPad," says Gillespie, "We have our eyes focused squarely on iOS 9. Among some performance and bug fixes, iBank for iPad 3.0 supports the split-screen workflow that is new in iOS 9. When Apple introduced split-screen at WWDC 2015, we knew that iBank should embrace it to give our customers the opportunity to be more productive than ever."

As before, users have full manual editing and entry capabilities, including the ability to split, schedule and categorize transactions; the ability to move different financial "books" between devices; multi-currency support; and many more powerful finance management tools.

A top-selling iOS finance app since its debut in 2012, iBank for iPad has been called "a stellar full-featured financial app" by Macworld.

iBank for iPad version 3.0 is $19.99 (USD) at the App Store exclusively, and will require iOS 9 or higher and iPad 2 or later. iBank for iPhone 3.0 is also available at the App Store exclusively for $9.99.
