Bianca Mosca is launching a range of hand-crafted custom watch bands specially designed to fit the Apple Watch and made from prime Louisiana alligator leather in eleven striking colors. Apple Watch owners love to customize the look of their watch as much as they do their apps, so the company made sure to offer something unique and exciting. The new watch bands come in colors such as Blue Jeans, Dark Grey and Pink as well as traditional black and brown.

London, United Kingdom - Bianca Mosca, known for its ultra-luxury exotic skin bags, wallets and accessories, is launching a range of hand-crafted custom watch bands specially designed to fit the Apple Watch(TM) and made from prime Louisiana alligator leather in eleven striking colors. Apple Watch owners love to customize the look of their watch as much as they do the apps, so we made sure to offer something so unique and exciting that they couldn't really find anywhere else on the market.

The new watch bands come in colors such as Blue Jeans, Dark Grey and Pink as well as traditional black and brown. These straps give Apple Watch owners even more options to stand out and own something you won't see everyday. The bespoke straps are extremely comfortable and made to be worn all the time without worry of them falling apart.

A Bianca Mosca spokesperson said: "The bands are a perfect replacement for the standard fitting and really bring the watch to life with a great modern design. This is the truly luxurious way to add a personal accent to your Apple Watch(TM)."

The bands are made entirely by hand in the Bianca Mosca workshop in France and come in two different sizes to fit both the 38mm and 42mm models. All metal fittings are included and are available in Stainless Steel, Yellow Gold* and Rose Gold*. They are priced at $375 (USD) including free delivery in the continental USA.
