Bucharest, Romania - Xylio has just released the completely remade future.dj pro, in conjunction with PULSELOCKER's new and vast music database to produce one of the most flexible digital DJ setups that gives any DJ or club the right to play any music anywhere legally.

"The integration with PULSELOCKER's service will add a lot of value to our new and existing customers. Being able to search in an up-to-date catalog of tens of millions of tracks and save what you want for offline use is something the DJ industry was waiting for a long time.", said Ionut Voiculescu, Xylio's Managing Director.

The fusion between pro DJ app and advanced DJ streaming is the first service that gives DJs the ability to mix online music without having Internet access. This works through an Offline playlist (locker) that can be used to add and keep all of the tracks you want. Then, by opening future.dj pro, the music is seamlessly saved to your computer. Once the Offline playlist has updated, Internet is no longer required.

"PULSELOCKER's integration with future.dj pro represents another step forward towards a new standard of music access for DJs.", said Alvaro G. Velilla, PULSELOCKER's Chief Product Officer.

This new functionality embedded in future.dj pro's interface, makes sure that you can take full advantage of over 44 million tracks that have been integrated in PULSELOCKER's database from nearly 500,000 labels.

Using the PULSELOCKER functionality within future.dj pro guarantees that all tracks are at the same flawless quality, complete with original artwork and full release info. Such a massive music library is aimed to quench the thirst of any DJ when it comes to finding all the hits, rare tracks and latest releases.

The powerful browser of future.dj pro hosts all of the new and advanced database functionalities. As always, DJs can mix audio, video and karaoke regardless of file format. In addition to timecode vinyl and CD integration, there are more than 80 natively supported MIDI controllers that can greatly enhance your control and experience with future.dj pro 1.2.

Different user interfaces allow the user to roam through future.dj pro's more advanced capabilities. Features such as video transitions/effects, x/y axis audio pads for combining multiple effects and many more can be easily accessed simply by changing to another skin. There are also four-deck interface variants that produce an additional two decks that can be mixed harmonically with the main decks.
