Dublin, Ireland - Irish start up, Emojitones Technology Limited today is proud to announce the release of Emojitones 2.0, their popular app utility developed for iOS and Android devices. For a quarter of a century the world has text messaged in silence. Emojitones is a full-featured text messaging platform that transforms emojis using the power of sound.

From Ireland to India, more than 6 billion emojis are used daily to add meaning to text messages, and the demand for culturally diverse versions have never been higher. The Emojitones free text messaging app for iOS and Android adds new levels of fun, self-expression and personalization to the unstoppable emoji phenomenon.

Emojitones is the brainchild of Dublin-based entrepreneur Guy de Bromhead: "Even with the addition of emojis, text messaging remains relatively emotionless when compared to face to face interaction. Sound is the missing link; and what better way to deliver it than packaged with the appropriate emoji icon. Anyone who texts know the trouble that can be caused when a message is mis-understood. The Emojitones app removes that ambiguity, empowering users to express what they really feel in images plus sound - and have fun in the process. The Emojitones product is unique in that the delivery of the emoji icons-plus-sound is instantaneous. Simply send a text message, photo or video and add your favorite emoji as usual. When the receiver swipes open the message the cloud-hosted sounds play back inline - automatically - to create a dynamic and often hilarious new mode of messaging."

Emojitones is a fun and zany way to send sounds in all your text messages through emojis. Emojitones combines the best of standard text messaging and sound. Finally the new generation of text messaging is here! Every emoji icon now has its own unique sound. Emojitones combines text, images, and animation and now sound to emoji icons that can be shared with friends, family and anyone else who you want to share your feelings, emotions intents with across all smart devices. Now, you can insert your own personal touch through sound with emojis adding fun and animation to all of your text messages. Best of all - the tones play automatically once a text message is opened.
