Oxford, United Kingdom - Softpress today is pleased to announce the release of Exhibeo 2, an important update to their popular photo gallery and slideshow creation tool for Mac. Designed exclusively for OS X Yosemite and El Capitan, Exhibeo 2's features include seven customizable gallery designs; even greater control while editing images and thumbnails; a new "metadata view" for adding image metadata; simplified output code for embedding galleries in websites; and much more.

Exhibeo 2 has an all-new design and the result is a cleaner, speedier, and more usable application. New and updated gallery themes give a modern feel, and the new metadata view and import options make adding image information easier than ever. A standout addition to Exhibeo 2 has been to streamline the output code, making it incredibly easy to add galleries to any website.

Along with Chroma, a color palette generation app also released today, Exhibeo 2 adds to Softpress' stable of cutting-edge design software. Both apps have been selected by Apple as featured applications on their App Store.

Apple's decision to feature the two apps is the latest in a series of accolades for Softpress. "We've always intended Exhibeo to be a cost-effective, straightforward, yet powerful photo gallery tool and Exhibeo 2 is no different," said Softpress Managing Director, Joe Billings. "For it to be featured on the App Store is thrilling and a huge achievement for the team."

Exhibeo 2 is available to buy on the App Store and featured until Thursday (June 2 2016).
