

DEVONthink with PDF fixes for macOS Sierra and more

Published on 10/27/16

DEVONtechnologies updates all editions of its intelligent information and document manager DEVONthink as well as its iOS counterpart DEVONthink To Go. The new versions address many PDF issues related to macOS Sierra and add workflow improvements. ELO Office users can now easier switch to DEVONthink. On iOS, DEVONthink To Go 2.0.5 adds a PDF thumbnail view, remembers reading positions, and is more responsive. All updates are free and recommended for all users.

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho - DEVONtechnologies updates all editions of its intelligent information and document manager DEVONthink as well as its iOS counterpart DEVONthink To Go. The new versions address many PDF issues related to macOS Sierra and add workflow improvements. ELO Office users can now easier switch to DEVONthink. On iOS, DEVONthink To Go 2.0.5 adds a PDF thumbnail view, remembers reading positions, and is more responsive. All updates are free and recommended for all users.

DEVONthink 2.9.5 for the Mac addresses further PDF and scanning issues introduced with macOS Sierra. It is again possible to reorganize pages using the PDF sidebar. PDF forms save entered content and highlighting is once more reliable. In addition, DEVONthink 2.9.5 supports Services in the PDF sidebar and allows to easily add and edit links in PDF documents.

Both DEVONthink and DEVONnote add new conditions to smart groups. ELO Office users planning to move to the Mac will like that version 2.9.6 honors metadata, e.g., item names, and skips additional files when importing data. The sharing extension for DEVONthink supports images, e.g., from web browsers, and uses less energy. Finally, formatted notes no longer strip form-related tags and save the state of checkboxes.

DEVONthink To Go 2.0.5 remembers reading and playback positions and, optionally, synchronizes them with other devices. The update adds a PDF thumbnail view, lets the user stop and restart audio recordings, and makes the user interface more responsive. Both Mac and iOS editions synchronize smaller files up to twice as fast via Bonjour and improve the sync reliability and performance too.

The updates for DEVONthink, DEVONnote, and DEVONthink To Go are free for existing users and highly recommended.
