Whether it's about sharing upcoming vacation plans, or simply checking in, to see the local temperature, time zones, and other information, ALW has it all.

Dubai, United Arab Emirates - ALW World LLC is pleased to announce the release of ALW - Almost Live With 1.2, an update to their popular social networking app for iOS and Android devices. Great news is on the horizon for people who want to experience the next level of social connectivity, beyond the limits of existing platforms. ALW - Almost Live With offers a novel and comprehensive way to stay in touch with loved ones, be it family members, friends, or business colleagues.

Almost Live With (ALW) lets users forge and maintain relationships with friends and family, especially when it's a constant struggle to always stay in touch. Whether it's about sharing upcoming vacation plans, or simply checking-in to see the local temperature, time zones, and other information, ALW has it all.

Almost Live With has come up with a vastly superior way to engage with friends and family, as well as the broader global community, in real time. The ALW mobile app is getting ready to launch and deliver the perfect personalized experience. Version 1.2 offers performance many improvements.

With ALW, users will always know who and where their mates (contacts) are through a highly interactive platform that includes mood emoticons, location and weather data, upcoming events and life milestones, and more. It's the stuff that relationships are made of, whether it's connecting with loved ones in the same room, friends across town, or family members living in different time zones across the planet.

It shouldn't be this easy, but it is! The ALW app is as easy to configure for things that matter most, as it is to install. There are six cards available; for presenting photo collages, the "next big thing" timeline, the "Hooked On" display of what a user is currently into right now, or the info-sharing "help" for crowdsourcing questions and even for users to provide tips and answers. The ALW Board screen will, by default, present four of these cards depending on the user's profile info, channels, and choices.

"Thinking about ALW concept and then creating a platform that really works like this was pretty ambitious, but that's what innovation does best," said Amir from ALW. "As entrepreneurs, we often think in terms of key details for security, for scalability, for creating the kind of intuitive and user-friendly experience people wish they had," said Mervin. The team is persevering to make that available in the real world, for end users to discover that ALW has exceeded their hopes and expectations, and delivered an entirely new real-time communication ecosystem.
