

Smile Exercise for iOS - A New App to Workout Your Smiles

Published on 02/13/17

Independent developer, Jaime Torres introduces Smile Exercise 1.0 for iPhone, iPad, and iPod touch devices. Smile Exercise was developed specifically to workout those smiles. Users are required to take three smiling trainings. Once a training is selected, the app will use the front camera to take photos of the user as it detects that they are smiling. When the training session is completed, an animation of all the photos taken are presented along with an option to share the animation as a GIF.

Juana Diaz, Puerto Rico - Independent developer, Jaime Torres is proud to announce the release of Smile Exercise 1.0 for iPhone, iPad, and iPod touch devices, an app to workout your smiles. Smile Exercise offers anyone the opportunity to finish 3 smiling trainings where the users are required to smile to complete them.

There are 3 trainings available, which consists of doing a smile training of 5, 10 or 20 smiles. The user selects one of the trainings available depending on the quantity of smiles they feel like doing at the moment. Once a training is selected, the app will use the front camera and will take photos of the user when it detects that the user is smiling. There are instructions that tell the user to smile or stop smiling. When the training session is completed an animation of all the photos taken is presented along with an option to share the photos animation as a GIF.

"I read in an article that the average smiles of an adult is 20 smiles per day," explained Jaime Torres, developer of Smile Exercise. "I hope this app help increase that number."
