

ChronoSync Express Updated to Version 1.1.6

Published on 02/21/17

Econ Technologies today releases ChronoSync Express 1.1.6 for macOS. ChronoSync Express is the entry level version of ChronoSync, the complete synchronization and backup utility for macOS. ChronoSync Express can synchronize or backup to most anything you can connect to your Mac, including folders on your Mac, other Macs, PC's, and external drives. Version 1.1.6 offers stability improvements, including a fix for sending email notifications through Office365 mail servers and more.

Casselberry, Florida - Econ Technologies updates ChronoSync Express(TM) to version 1.1.6. This update offers stability improvements, including a fix for sending email notifications through Office365 mail servers and better handling of corrupt synchronizer documents. To view a complete list of all the features in ChronoSync Express 1.1.6, check out the Release Notes online.

ChronoSync Express is the entry level version of ChronoSync(TM), the complete synchronization and backup utility for macOS. It is the perfect tool for users who want to synchronize files and folders between two computers. It can also perform local backups to external hard drives, NAS devices and file servers. For high performance file sharing, it is fully compatible with ChronoAgent(TM). It can even exchange files with iOS devices running InterConneX(R) and send completion notifications to your iPhone via ChronoMonitor(TM). Check out the ChronoSync Express page to see all the differences between ChronoSync and ChronoSync Express.
