

Launch of appGarten - Service for Mobile Applnsight, Care, and Services

Published on 03/22/17

credeo announced the launch of appGarten, a service that provides applnsight, appCare and appServices. applnsight compares your App to your competitors, checks for technical risks, security vulnerabilities and gives a completely new view on your App. appCare takes over the code, enhances it with crash monitoring, fixes bugs, releases it to the App Store and keeps your App up-to-date with the latest iOS releases. appServices does customer support, new features and improvements and much more.

Cologne, Germany - credeo GmbH today announced the launch of appGarten, a service that focuses on high-end insights, professional care, and high quality services for mobile applications.

appGarten supports app owners in running a successful app business. "Your iOS App is in the Apple App Store? Congratulations! You have reached the first stage of a marathon." said Hartmut Wilms, CTO of credeo. "Your users will start to use your App and will ask questions, send feedback, start complaining, report bugs and problems, raise requests for improvements and new features ... they need constant attention."

Many companies and developers underestimate the efforts and ongoing tasks that are necessary to keep an App in the Apple App Store, react to their users issues and wishes, and can't focus on new developments and product lines. appGarten is the solution for problems that Apps face in the Apple App Store:

* appGarten does applnsight. applnsight compares your App to your main competitors and checks for technical risks, security vulnerabilities and gives a completely new view on your App based on customers' feedback and what your competitors do.

* appGarten does appCare. appCare takes over the code, enhances it with crash monitoring, fixes bugs, releases it to the App Store and keeps your App up-to-date with the latest iOS releases. It reveals what your customers complain about and request for future releases.

* appGarten does appServices. appServices does customer support, implements new features and improvements, enables your App for new devices, optimizes the visibility in the App store and much more.

Customers can subscribe to different plans offered by appGarten, ranging from applnsight and appCare up to a full-fledged appServices package. applnsight is offered for a one time payment and appCare on a monthly subscription. "We want to lower the hurdle of using our services as much as possible by offering high quality at low prices and an out-of-the-box lightweight experience," said Kristijan Cvetkovic, founder and CEO of credeo.
