

Interact Scratchpad brings Quick, Easy Contact Creation to the Mac

Published on 03/22/17

Texas based Agile Tortoise today announces Interact Scratchpad 1.0 for Mac. This menubar app brings the popular natural language contact creation tools of Interact for iOS to the Mac. Type or paste in blocks of text with contact information and let Interact parse names, addresses, phone numbers into a complete contact record in your default Contacts account. Create new contacts, or add information to existing contacts quicker than ever.

North Richland Hills, Texas - Agile Tortoise today is proud to announce the release of Interact Scratchpad 1.0 for Mac. Interact Scratchpad for Mac brings the popular Scratchpad feature of Agile Tortoise's Interact contact manager app for iPhone and iPad to the Mac for the first time. Interact Scratchpad is the quick, easy way to create rich, complete contact records from plain text on the Mac. Copy text from email signatures, web pages, or any document, and let the Interact Scratchpad turn it into a contact for you, without the clumsy fiddling required to create contacts in the Mac's built-in Contact's app.

Features:

- * Automatic recognition of common contact values including names, addresses, email, phone numbers, URLs and more
- * Simple tagging system to mark additional fields, notes and assign groups
- * Works directly with your system contact accounts, no configuration needed
- * Create new contacts in your default system contact account from the parsed text
- * Add to existing contacts, appending notes or additional fields
- * Preview before committing updates
- * Share generated contact data as importable vCard file - without the need to add the contact to your contact list. Great for creating ad-hoc vCard files with partial contact information
- * Touch bar support for easy tagging
- * Configurable global hot key for quick access

System Requirements

- * Any Mac running OS X 10.11 El Capitan or macOS 10.12 Sierra
- * At least one account configured in macOS System Preferences to create new contacts
- * 6.5 MB

Pricing and Availability:

Interact Scratchpad 1.0 is available immediately, only the Mac App Store, for $4.99 (USD). To celebrate the release of its Mac companion, Interact for iPhone and iPad is on sale for 50% ($1.99 USD) through March 29th, 2017. For more information, please contact Greg Pierce.
