Austin, Texas - Alta Vida LLC today announced a sale on Babelingo, their language translation utility for iPhone and iPod Touch. For a limited time the app is on sale at more than 70% off. Containing 11 languages (110 unique language combinations), Babelingo is an easy-to-use phrase book communicator, allowing anyone to show a professionally translated phrase to a foreign language audience. Phrases are displayed in a large and beautifully rendered script, easily read from a distance.

Babelingo can translate to and from 11 different languages, including English, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, French, German, Russian, Czech, Hindi, Japanese and Chinese. Each phrase is carefully translated by highly skilled professional translators and displayed in a large, beautifully rendered script that is easily read from a distance. With the latest version users can enable viewing of phonetic phrases for Japanese, Chinese, Russian and Hindi (Romaji, Pinyin, Romanized Russian and Romanized Hindi respectively).

Each category, phrase, word, and screen can be presented in any one of the supported languages. The user chooses their native language, the alternative audiences language, and Babelingo does the rest. Phrases are grouped by category in a flat list for fast navigation. Simply tap a phrase and its translation is immediately displayed.

For commonly used phrases, users may add them to a favorites list for quick and easy access. Quickly search for phrases using key words. Hindi speakers can search for Hindi script using the English keyboard and phonetic spellings (Romanized Hindi). And Babelingo is more than a simple phrase book too. The application also enables two way communication by allowing the alternate party to navigate Babelingo in their own language and respond to requests, making it the perfect travel companion for both business and leisure.

Version 1.3.11 includes professionally translated phrases in the Russian language, and a recommended update. In addition, this version allows users to enable viewing of phonetic phrases for Japanese, Chinese, Russian and Hindi (Romaji, Pinyin, and Romanized Hindi respectively). Customers who have a need for a specific language are urged to contact support so that it may be prioritized into a future release of Babelingo.
