

Steve Gadd Loops - App with Drum Loops and Fills by the One And Only

Published on 12/26/17

Go Independent Records today proudly introduces Steve Gadd Loops 1.0, their new music app for iOS devices. Steve is by far the most sought after studio and live drummer in the world. And he now releases for the first time his grooves in 4 bar length loops for musicians on iOS. All loops can be copied to Apple's Garageband as Apple Loops. Finetune the tempo to your liking, keeping all details in his groove and without compromising sound quality. All audio is mastered to 44,1 kHz, 16 bit.

The Hague, The Netherlands - Steve Gadd comes to the iPad and iPhone as well as iPod touch and has recorded a vast array of drum loops and fills in corporation with Go Independent Records, the company from the Netherlands that has previously released apps like Drum Loops HD and Percussion Loops HD.

50 Ways to leave your lover, Late in the Evening, Roof Garden, Aja!, Eric Clapton, Paul Simon, Chick Corea, to name a few of Steve Gadd's highlights in the last 40 years. He is and has always been the example to many drummers in the world today and who would not like to play along with him, to jam with the master of his craft. Well, Steve said it was time to release this in the most modern and progressive format today, the IOS App Store.

This gives any bass player, song writer, music teacher the unique chance to have Steve Gadd as the drummer on either a self made iPad recording or a session live or maybe teaching a student. Think of Steve as the only grooving human metronome in the world and you get a hint of what this app can do for a musician. Steve has re-recorded some of his best known grooves especially for this app, to be found in the 'Famous Grooves' chapter.

Steve Gadd Loops consists of only 4 bar loops, something Steve requested in the first meetings that led to this product, he wanted to make sure that consumers would not feel the loops as 'looped' but rather as a performance, keeping the feel as strong as possible. And, Steve plays many 4 bar loops in fact as 4 bar patterns rather than 1 or 2 bar patterns repeated so anyone can enjoy this now with the release of Steve Gadd Loops.

The app is the initiative of a small but tenacious musicians based app company from the Netherlands, a company that has proved by now that music apps can be successful worldwide as long as you go for professional quality only. Produced and designed by a professional session drummer and session singer with a history of building apps this release has to be the crown on earlier work, Gadd: the best studio drummer in the world, alive in your back pocket!

The app comes with a lot of chapters, based on chosen styles and tempos by Steve himself and reflecting his feel, groove and style very strongly. Furthermore (like other Go Independent apps) the app features full Inter App Audio support and Audiobus support, making it possible to send Steve's groove to another similarly equipped app on your Apple device.

All loops can be copied to Apple's Garageband as Apple Loops, after pasting into the hugely popular app the loops played by Steve Gadd will follow the tempo chosen in GB. Singer songwriters, rejoice! Make tracks with Steve on drums and finetune the tempo to your liking keeping all details in his groove and without compromising sound quality. All audio is mastered to 44,1 kHz, 16 bit (cd quality)

Besides Steve Gadd Loops there is a free (try out) version available and was released at the same time, Steve Gadd Loops Light. This is a version with all bonus video content working plus one chapter in one bpm working fully with all offered functionality. This method has been the chosen way for Go Independent Records since they did their first release for IOS in 2012. The company is known for a great customer support and their website has plenty of info on user questions concerning copy/paste and specific instructions for the most used sequencers on iPads and iPhones.
