Perg, Austria - January 16, 2018: Ergonis Software today announced Typinator 7.4, an improved version of their highly acclaimed text expander for macOS. Typinator's primary use case is to type an abbreviation and get the expansion inserted into your document. But finding good, short, and still unique abbreviations can be a challenge, in particular when you have hundreds of similar items. Instead of inventing and remembering hundreds of abbreviations, Typinator's Quick Search feature helps to find all items that match certain keywords or phrases. But until now, the list of matching items was limited to the height of the screen and therefore contained only the most relevant items. Typinator 7.4 removes this limitation and displays all matches in a scrollable list.

The new version now also works with text entered via Keyboard Viewer. With a long list of more than 30 further usability and compatibility improvements, version 7.4 is a must-have upgrade for every Typinator user. Visit Ergonis Software's website to learn more about the changes in this release and to download and try the new version.

Typinator is a powerful, yet elegantly simple solution that boosts your productivity by automating the process of inserting frequently used text and auto-correcting typing errors. Across all applications, it detects specific sequences of typed characters and automatically replaces them with text snippets, graphics, URLs, dates and special characters.
