

AustinSoft takes Day-n-Night Global

Published on 04/10/18

California based AustinSoft today announces Day-n-Night 7.0 for iOS and tvOS. Day-n-Night is a beautiful, customizable world clock, showing the world as it is between day and night. Easily see the lights show through at dusk and fade away at dawn. Users can also zoom in to the map to get a better view of that area of the map. Version 7.0 adds new machine-assisted translations, performance improvements and resolved minor issues.

Morgan Hill, California - AustinSoft announces the immediate availability of Day-n-Night 7.0 for iOS and tvOS, localized to 24 languages, and supports date layouts from around the world. Not only are dates and times displayed in your regional format, but they are also displayed using your regional digit formats. Hold the beauty of the world in the palm of your hand, or let it light up your room from your AppleTV!

"Day-n-Night displays the entire world," said Glenn L. Austin, CEO of AustinSoft. "It only makes sense to localize the application to even more languages than before, and support virtually every date format available on the iPhone and AppleTV. To that end, we now parse the entire date formatting system available on the iPhone and display the date and time in your preferred format."

Day-n-Night is now fully localized into the following languages:

- * Arabic (World)
- * Chinese (Simplified)
- * Chinese (Traditional)
