Vancouver, Canada - PaigeWorld is proud to be hosting the Twenty One Pictures Event. This creative art challenge runs all throughout July. It will have you exploring and focusing on your emotions in an effort - to help you channel them in a positive and creative way!

As someone who has learned to live positively with anxiety and depression and has found solace and strength in creativity I wanted to help other artists better cope with negative emotions through positive expression and also help them to celebrate content and happy moments as well.

This challenge draws inspiration from band Twenty One Pilots and their deeply inspirational music and lyrics. Tyler and Josh continue to perfectly voice their own personal inner battles while still remaining optimistic and hopeful. If you aren't familiar with their music I urge you to do yourself a favour and take some time to listen to them.

This is not a contest, however randomly selected posts and commenters will be chosen to receive event-themed gifts and challenge posts will have a higher chance of being featured during July. Posts must be tagged to #TwentyOnePictures to be eligible. So strap yourself in. We are in for one bumpy, but rewarding ride!

This event has been championed by PaigeWorld's own @dacadgirl. @dacadgirl is PaigeWorld's lead moderator. She provides leadership and support to the PaigeWorld community and the PaigeWorld moderator team. PaigeWorld and @dacadgirl have provided prizes for this event.

Post Your Art Everywhere:

How you interpret your subject / emotion is totally up to you.
