Published on 10/26/18

DEVONtechnologies updates its smart document and information manager DEVONthink with interface fixes for macOS Mojave, support for Fujitsu ScanSnap Home, and a modernized web server. It also improves Evernote import, email archiving, and drag-and-drop with e.g. Tinderbox. All four editions also receive additional improvements and bug fixes. DEVONthink supports a large variety of file formats and stores them in a database enhanced by artificial intelligence (AI).

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho - DEVONtechnologies updates its smart document and information manager DEVONthink with interface fixes for macOS Mojave, support for Fujitsu ScanSnap Home, and a modernized web server. It also improves Evernote import, email archiving, and drag-and-drop with e.g. Tinderbox. All four editions also receive additional improvements and bug fixes. The updates are free and recommended for all users.

DEVONthink is DEVONtechnologies' document and information management solution for the Mac.

It supports a large variety of file formats and stores them in a database enhanced by artificial intelligence (AI). Many document formats can be directly viewed and edited, PDFs annotated. DEVONnote is DEVONthink's little sibling with a reduced feature set targeted at users with notetaking-centric needs.

Sophisticated organization tools, AI-based techniques that handle even the largest collections, and numerous integration options make DEVONthink the work environment of choice for researchers, lawyers, and educators. With its fast, reliable, and secure synchronization users keep their data available on all their Macs and iOS devices. DEVONthink To Go for iPad and iPhone completes the DEVONthink ecosystem.

- * Keep your data together in one place
- * Scan your paper, archive your email
- * Let artificial intelligence help you file your data
- * Sync your data to all your devices, fast and secure
- * Share your data with anyone, whether they use Mac or PC

New in DEVONthink 2.10.2:

The latest update for DEVONthink and DEVONnote brings compatibility adjustments for macOS Mojave. Among a row of other changes it fixes visual glitches in panels, menus, and the scan window.

In addition, DEVONthink Pro Office 2.10.2 supports Fujitsu's new ScanSnap Home application. It recognizes incoming scans and converts them to searchable PDF documents if needed. The built-in webserver has been modernized, too. It makes better use of fast network connections for serving Mac and PC users connecting to its databases via web sharing.

DEVONthink now preserves checkboxes in notes imported from Evernote and better supports ebook metadata. The update also enhances drag-and-drop with third-party applications like Eastgate Tinderbox. Users doing a lot of research will notice that jumping to search hits in documents with highlighted text is easier too.

On the sync side DEVONthink 2.10.2 lets users import databases from sync locations by double-clicking them in the sync preferences. The update also makes the progress indication while verifying or cleaning sync stores more comprehensive and improves the handling of indexed files as well as the reliability of the synchronization in general.
