ArtOptimizer eliminates the excess image data of Illustrator picture links and performs essential image adjustments. The new version adds a long list of new features such as image format conversion, batch processing, settings presets, duplicate links processing, new user interface and much more.

Toronto (ON), Canada - Zevrix Solutions today announces the public beta release of ArtOptimizer 3, a major upgrade to company's workflow automation solution for Adobe Illustrator. The only tool of its kind on the market, ArtOptimizer eliminates the excess image data of Illustrator picture links and performs essential image adjustments, which helps users save disk space, accelerate document output, and cut overall production time dramatically.

The new version introduces a long list of new features and improvements, which take ArtOptimizer to a totally different level and help Illustrator users easily automate complex and time-consuming production tasks. A highlight of the new solutions and improvements include:

- * New user interface
- * Batch processing of Illustrator files
- * Presets of the app's settings
- * Process duplicate links
- * Convert formats of Illustrator image links
- * Specify Photoshop resampling methods for optimized resolution
- * Process monochrome (bitmap) images
- * Convert colors to specific profile
- * Link previews
- * Duplicate original Illustrator document before processing
- * Many other new options for backup, relinking, image naming and other areas
- * Improved performance and stability
