

Merlin Project 6 is here

Published on 11/06/19

Longtime Mac developer, ProjectWizards has released Merlin Project 6.0, the sixth generation of its professional project management software for productive use and sales. Merlin is intuitive, easy-to-use and offers a variety of options to help you plan, take control, collaborate and complete your project successfully. The new version comes with many graphical improvements. With the new version 6.0 Merlin Project supports the Dark Mode on Macs, iPads & iPhones.

Melle, Germany - Almost exactly 15 years to the day after the first version of Merlin, the sixth generation of the popular project management software for Mac, iPad and iPhone was released today. Merlin is intuitive, easy-to-use and offers a variety of options to help you plan, take control, collaborate and complete your project successfully. The new version comes with many graphical improvements.

The so called Dark Mode is a helpful setting when it comes to working in the evening or in dark surroundings - a fate that affects many project managers. With the new version 6.0 Merlin Project supports the Dark Mode on Macs, iPads & iPhones. In contrast, Merlin Project 6 also offers a Light Mode with a bright inspector for a consistently light appearance. There are four ways to combine the different displays: For example, the contents of a project can appear bright in Dark Mode.

Merlin Project 6 now supports the accent colors on the Mac, which is particularly impressive in the new start dialog. This provides direct access to all templates and previous documents. A new, practical view menu makes it easier to open the numerous views of a project.

On the iPad, Merlin Project 6 can now handle multiple windows - the so-called scenes. It is even supported to open one project in several scenes simultaneously.

Merlin Project 6 requires at least macOS 10.12 or iOS 12. Users will receive the new version as part of the regular updates. Interested parties can test all functions free of charge for 30 days. The demo version can be downloaded from the manufacturer's website.
