Qingdao, China - iFunia, a professional developer of Mac multimedia software, is pleased to announce that their flagship product iFunia Video Converter Pro for Mac has been featured by Softonic, the number one download portal in Europe and number two worldwide. This placement is the top in Softonic Mac where a product's popularity is considered alongside its top sales.

"We are delighted that one of our key products has gained this high popularity not only for intuitive interface, but also as a result of consumer preferences," said iFunia director for sales and marketing Amy Lu. "It recognizes our dedication to delivering easy-to-use and quality multimedia tools to Mac consumers now and into the future. We would also like to thank our partner softonic.com for featuring this product to help users make the best purchasing decisions."

iFunia Video Converter Pro for Mac is an all-in-one solution that enables users to convert video files into the appropriate format for use on personal computers or popular mobile devices such as the Apple iPod, iPhone, Sony PSPs, Apple TV, and BlackBerrys. Users can work with high definition video files and even edit video with trimming, cropping, adding watermark, etc.
