

1Password 3 launches with over 50 new features and enhancements

Published on 11/19/09

Agile Web Solutions today announced 1Password 3, its award-winning password and identity manager for Mac OS X. Over one year in the making, 1Password 3 is the most significant upgrade in company history, and adds over 50 fantastic new features and enhancements. These new features and enhancements were fused with a gorgeous new interface and full 64-bit support for Snow Leopard.

Toronto (Ontario, Canada) - Agile Web Solutions announced on Thursday the immediate availability of 1Password 3, its award-winning password and identity manager for the Mac. Over one year in the making, 1Password 3 is the most significant upgrade in company history, incorporating years of customer feedback and new innovation from Agile's unique, comprehensive approach to making its users' lives more secure and convenient.

1Password 3 adds over 50 fantastic new features and enhancements, as well as some good ol' fashioned elbow grease. 1PasswordAnywhere - the most-requested 1Password feature of all time - has arrived, enabling users to view their 1Password information on any computer with a modern browser. Users can also now organize their software licenses in a new, dedicated 1Password Vault category, customize exactly what information syncs to 1Password touch on an iPhone or iPod touch, attach and encrypt virtually any file in 1Password, use Smart Search to filter for just the right results, use tags throughout 1Password for new organizational power, edit 1Password items directly from its browser extensions, and more.

These new features and enhancements were fused with a gorgeous new interface and full 64-bit support for Snow Leopard, while 1Password got even better at encrypting and protecting the information that nearly one million users entrust to it every day. Agile Web Solutions toiled away on 1Password 3 for over a year, then tested it with a large, private team for months. Now, all Mac users may experience the many ways in which 1Password 3 can make their lives more secure and convenient.

1Password 3 is compatible with Mac OS X 10.5 Leopard and 10.6 Snow Leopard. It is a paid upgrade, though users who purchased 1Password 2 on or after February 1, 2009 get free license upgrades to version 3 (that's nine months of free upgrades!). All other owners of 1Password versions 1 or 2 can take advantage of a limited-time, Early Bird Upgrade Discount. Through the end of November, save 50% off the purchase of a single license upgrade at $19.95 USD, or save 57% off a Family Pack upgrade of five licenses for just $29.95. Full licenses cost $39.95 for single users, and $69.95 for Family Packs. More screenshots and information are available at Agile Web Solutions' site, and NFR licenses are available to journalists and bloggers on request.
