Cedar Rapids, Iowa, USA - KB Productions today proudly announces the release of GameTrac 1.0, a new sports statistics recording and analysis app for the iPhone. GameTrac is focused on tracking particular stats for individuals striving to improve performance. Originally designed for parents interested in providing their kids a tool for improvement, GameTrac 1.0 is uniquely customizable and capable of tracking any statistic, in any game, for any player.

In competitive games, there is often someone 'keeping the book.' Such stats are generally focused on helping teams understand strengths and weaknesses. GameTrac is focused on tracking particular stats for individuals striving to improve performance. Less performance conscious users have come to enjoy GameTrac's ability to record game results and overall seasonal records while completely ignoring its more sophisticated capabilities. GameTrac can be as simple or complex as desired by each individual user.

Define statistics using points, percentages, successes, distance, time, or any other unit. GameTrac automatically calculates and compares every match to a player's historic averages. Simple performance graphs chart and encourage player improvement. Easily share game updates with those who cannot be present using built-in email, Facebook and Twitter integration.

GameTrac has been designed with care to be intuitive and easy to use, especially while watching a game. The interface will be familiar to anyone who has briefly used an iPhone or iPod Touch, with big buttons that make recording game stats easy. Concentrate on the game, not on the phone! Create a player profile(s), define the stat(s) you wish to improve and start tracking, GameTrac will do the rest.
