

Dress Jinjee 1.0 released for iPhone - Kids Decorate Gingerbread Man

Published on 12/20/09

Gaming outfit Punflay has released Dress Jinjee 1.0 for iPhone and iPod touch. Dress Jinjee capitalizes on the ever popular Gingerbread man and gives him extra frills to make him more appealing. The game allows kids to decorate and dress up the gingerbread man in different creative ways, add voice for customization and share it as a postcard with friends and family. The game has an easily playable interface and eye popping colors to catch the attention of young and also old.

Fremont, California - Gaming outfit Punflay, a part of Emantras Inc has recently announced the submission of the brand new game for Xmas season called Dress Jinjee. This iPhone/iPod touch game is supposed to be a treat for kids and growing children ideally around the festival season.

A Christmas special from PunFlay. It capitalizes on the ever popular Gingerbread man and gives him extra frills to make him more appealing. Dress Jinjee allows kids to decorate and dress up the gingerbread man in different creative ways, add voice for customization and share it as a postcard with friends and family. The game has an easily playable interface and eye popping colors to catch the attention of young and also old. The skills required to play this game are absolutely basic in nature as well.

Parents see a merit to this as well. That explains a flurry of educational apps on the store. Our game, Dress Jinjee was born out of an idea to reincarnate the gingerbread man on the iPhone. Added to the fact that the combination of a Gingerbread man in different attires makes it more attractive. We expect children in the age group 5-15 to appreciate it.
